

My Story.....

Mia Robinson

I spent 9 months in my Mummy's tummy and I decided I wanted to see the outside world on 30th October 2008 as it sounded very exciting. I had a bit of trouble getting out into the Big world and my head got a little squashed, but I made it. I also swallowed some blood so I felt very sick.

I remember looking around and thinking WOW everything is sooo big how will I survive. My Mummy gave me some milk from her booby and this big world did not seem so bad after all. I felt so safe and contented being so close to my Mummy and drinking my Milk. In fact I often just nodded off to sleep.

“ I am so safe and contented being so close to my Mummy and drinking my Milk. ”

As time has gone on I have had a few problems with feeding from my Mummy, I had thrush in my mouth which was very sore. My tongue looked all white so my Mummy took me to the Doctors and he gave me some medicine. I know it made my Mummy very sore too but thank goodness she carried on feeding me from her booby as it's the best thing for me.

I also had really bad tummy pains, my Mummy said it was Colic. She gave me some magic medicine. It was really funny as she used to express some milk onto a spoon and mix in the drops. When she did this the jets in her booby's used to spray the milk everywhere, especially over our sofa. However, the pains passed at about 3 months and I no longer needed the drops. Over time though she got really good at doing it. I am such a big strong girl and I know I have been given the best start in life.

My Mummy has given me antibodies to fight off some nasty infections/diseases.

I just want to say to all the Mummy's out there please try to Breastfeed your babies as it's so good for your precious little one's. I won't lie you will have hard times but there are people out there to help (the breastfeeding Link Workers). Just don't give up, there is always light at the end of the tunnel no matter how hard things get.

Bye Bye
Mia
